1844 "QUEEN VICTORIA TRUST"

In 1844 Queen Victoria set up an Account whereby the NZ Government would pay taxes to the Queen for the right to occupy NZ. Because they could not afford to pay the taxes Governor Fitzroy waived the pre-emption clause to raise funds by selling land on the open market in breach of Article 3 of the Treaty of Waitangi. <https://youtu.be/3pS2mqauy> in this account was known as the Akaroa Bank. The Queen Deposit s funds paid to her by the NZ Settlers Government for the right of occupation. Governor Fitzroy overspent the fund so he was removed from office.

The NZ Settlers Government still pay taxes to the British Crown which are deposited in the London Branch of the BNZ before being transferred to the Akaroa Bank The interest is administered by the Reserve Bank of New Zealand and used by the NZ Government to support this country’s infrastructure. It is Maori money that supports the NZ Economy.

Full and detailed list of Panama Paper leaks - Who's involved?

April 5, 2016

<http://www.sbeconomic.com/single-post/2016/04/05/Full-and-detailed-list-of-Panama-Paper-leak-Whos-involved>

Sebastian Rothstein

In the light of the largest leak in journalistic history, it can be somewhat hard to gather information because there's so much to take in. If you're not familiar with the Panama Papers leak - links here: ICIJ and Süddeutsche Zeitung

I have compiled an easy to read, linear, list with all the high profile people involved, and everything you need to know about them in regards to the leak. I do, however, not take any credit for the incredible journalism done by The International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (ICIJ).

Brace yourselves, it's a long list:

Heads of state and government

Current:

- Mauricio Macri, President of Argentina
  - While Macri was mayor of Buenos Aires, he did not disclose his position on Fleg Trading Ltd., where he was the director. The company was incorporated in the Bahamas in 1998.

- Sigmundur Davíð Gunnlaugsson, Prime Minister of Iceland (Resigned)
  - The Prime Minister and his wife, Anna Sigurlaug Pálsdóttir, held approximately $4 millions in bonds through Wintris Inc., a shell company based out of the tax haven British Virgin Islands. He didn't disclose his 50% stake in the company when he took office in 2009, and then sold his share in Wintris Inc. to his wife for $1 at the end of 2009. This is an important revelation, because PM. Sigmundur was elected as an anti-establishment figure against the banking crisis and is quite clearly as bad as they were.
- Vladimir Putin, President of Russia
  - Sergey Roldugin, who's a friend of Putin's, was listed as the owner of several offshore companies that received shadowy money in the range of tens of millions of dollars. ICIJ said "the evidence in the files suggests Roldugin is acting as a front man for a network of Putin loyalists — and perhaps for Putin himself."
- Xi Jinping, President of People's Republic of China
  - In 2009, Deng Jiagui, Xi Jinping's brother in law, became the sole proprietor of the companies Best Effect Enterprises Ltd. and Wealth Ming International Limited, both of which were based out of (you guessed it) British Virgin Islands. It is, however, unclear what the companies were used for.
- Bashar Al Assad, Syrian President
  - Rami and Hafez Makhoul, which are Assad's two cousins, has long been the target of international sanctions and are suspected to be in control of important gateways to the Syrian oil and telecom business. (More: Vice's story from 2014)
- Salman, King of Saudi Arabia
  - Salman held an "unspecific role" in a company called Safason Corporation SPF S.A. that owned British Virgin Island companies which took out $34 million in mortgages to purchase luxury homes in London. He's also the primary user of a yacht that was held by a British Virgin Island company.
- Najib Abdul Razak, Prime Minister of Malaysia
  - Mohd Nazifuddin bin Mohd Najib, son of the Prime minister, has had a wide range of businesses in sectors such as: finance, technology, energy, paints and coatings, and mass transit. Became VP of the Olympic Council of Malaysia in 2015.
- Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan, President of the United Arab Emirates and Emir of Abu Dhabi
  - Sheikh Khalifa, one of the world's wealthiest men, was the owner of, at the very least, 30 different companies established in the British Virgin Islands by Mossack Fonseca.
- Petro Poroshenko, President of Ukraine
  - Poroshenko's assets include auto plants, a TV channel, a chocolate business, and a shipyard. He's the sole proprietor of a holding company called Prime Asset Partners Limited, which was set up through Mossack Fonseca.
- Nawaz Sharif, Prime Minister of Pakistan
  - 3 of Nawas Sharif's 4 children (Mariam, Hasan, and Hussain) are implicated in the Panama Paper leak.

There has been a lot of controversy surrounding the family over their business network in industries that include: steel, sugar, paper mills, and international property holdings.

Former:

- Bidzina Ivanishvili, Prime Minister of Georgia
  - Bidzina owned a trust called Lynden Management Ltd. that was based out of the British Virgin Islands. It was established by Credit Suisse, and has come under scrutiny for the fuzzy source of its funds.
- Ayad Allawi, Prime Minister of Iraq
  - Ayad Allawi controlled a British Virgin Island company named Moonlight Estate Limited and a Panama registered company named I.M.F holdings; both controlled real-estate in England.
- Ali Abu al-Ragheb, Prime Minister of Jordan
  - Ali Abu was the director of several British Virgin Island based investment companies; he held 3 different companies in Seychelles and had family members serving as board of directors on multiple British Virgin Island companies.
- Hamad bin Khalifa Al Thani, Emir of Qatar
  - Less than a year after Hamad bin Khalifa contacted Mossack Fonseca to buy a shelf company registered in the British Virgin Islands. The company, Afrodille S.A., would hold accounts in Luxembourg banks and shares in two South African companies.
- Hamad bin Jassim bin Jaber Al Thani, Prime Minister of Qatar
  - Hamad bin Jassim held investment companies in Panama and two companies, which he co-owned with the then-Qatar Emir Hamad bin Khalifa. He've also held several other companies in the Bahamas and British Virgin Islands - also one through which he managed a $300 million yacht.
- Ahmed al-Mirghani, President of Sudan
  - Al-Mirghani owned Orange Star Corporations, which was a company based out of the British Virgin Islands. After being created in 1995, Orange Star Corporation made a long lease purchase of an apartment in London for more than $600,000. When al-Mirghani died, he held assets through the company worth $2.72 million dollars, according to ICIJ.
- Pavlo Lazarenko, Prime Minister of Ukraine
  - Lazarenko was convicted in June 2000 for money laundering in Switzerland and then in the United States in 2004 and then sentenced to 9 years in prison; the sentence was then reduced to 97 months (8 years and 1 month). $250 million from his offshore accounts are still being tracked down by U.S. authorities.

Other government officials

Algeria

- Abdeslam Bouchouareb, Minister of Industry and Mines
  - In 2015, Bouchouareb became the sole owner of Royal Arrival Corp., a company based out of Panama. He managed the company through another company called Compagnie d'Etude, which was based out of Luxembourg.

Angola

- José Maria Botelho de Vasconcelos, Minister of Petroleum
  - José was one out of two individuals who had power of attorney for the a company valued at $1 million named Madea Investments Limited. It was moved to Samoa in 2006 after having been incorporated in Niue in 2001. Madea Investments Limited was inactivated in 2009.

Argentina

- Néstor Grindetti, Mayor of Lanús
  - Grindetti had the power of attorney for the Panama based company called Mercier International SA, which was incorporated in 2010. He held the power of attorney until 2013. The only shares were bearer shares, which makes it harder to track down ownership of the company.

Botswana

- Ian Kirby, President of the Botswana Court of Appeal and former Attorney General
  - Kirby was one of the shareholders of seven British Virgin Island based companies. While Attorney General, he first appeared in the documents as a shareholder for Bellbrook Estates Limited in 2005. At least 3 of the British Virgin Island companies held property in the United Kingdom.

Brazil

- Eduardo Cunha, President of the Chamber of Deputies
- Joaquim Barbosa, former President and Justice of the Supreme Federal Court
  - Barbosa set up a British Virgin Island based company called Assas JB1 in order to buy Florida real estate in 2012.
- João Lyra, Member of the Chamber of Deputies

Cambodia

- Ang Vong Vathana, Minister of Justice
  - Vathana was 1 of 5 registered shareholders of RCD International Limited, based out of the British Virgin Islands. The Minister of Justice bought 5000 shares for $5000; the purpose of the company, however, is still somewhat of a mystery.

Chile

- Alfredo Ovalle Rodriguez, intelligence agency associate
  - Rodriguez was given power of attorney for a Panamanian company called Sierra Leona SA in 2002. He used the company to invest in mining and food distribution sectors in Chile.

Democratic Republic of the Congo

- Jaynet Désirée Kabila Kyungu, Member of the National Assembly
  - A few months after Janyet’s brother became president of the Democratic Republic of Congo, Keratsu Holding Limited was started in Niue. Janyet was co-director with another Congolese named Kalume Nyembwe. Keratsu Holding Ltd was even stakeholder for one of Congo’s largest mobile phone operators.

Republic of the Congo

- Bruno Itoua, Minister of Scientific Research and Technical Innovation and former Chairman of the SNPC
  - While energy advisor to the president of the Republic of Congo, Bruno Jean-Richard Ltoua was the attorney to represent two offshore companies in 2004. The company, Denvest Capital Strategies Inc was based in the British Virgin Islands and Grafim Associated SA was based in Panama. The companies had at that time issued unregistered shares which were to belong to the person who physically holds them. According to Fonseca however, the companies became inactive in 2006 and 2007.

Ecuador

- Galo Chirboga, current Attorney General
  - Chirboga was hired in 1999 in a time when he served a private practice lawyer to collect a debt from a couple who owned a house in the luxurious area of La Vina. That year, Chirboga created Madrigal Finance Corp in Panama. In December that same year, he bought the house through a self full authorization from the firm that set the price of the property to be 2,800 dollar. He was later sued for fraud as authority expected the house to be worth more than 1 million dollar.
- Pedro Delgado, former Governor of the Central Bank
  - In 2012 Austrobank Panama S.A a subsidiary bank of Grupo Eljuri and client to Mossack Fonseca processed a large mortgage loan on behalf of Pedro Delgado and his wife Maria Veronica Endara. The loan of 190,000 dollar was to purchase an estate in North Miami Beach. This happened over the course of time when Delgado served as governor of the Central Bank of Ecuador. However, the mortgage was first declined by a law firm that found the conditions of the mortgage to have too many holes in the transaction. But Mossack Fonseca immediately found another law firm that could record the mortgage in Miami.

France

- Jérôme Cahuzac, Former Minister of Budget
  - Cahuzac has been the owner of Seychelles Company, Cerman Group Limited established since 2009. In 2013 French authorities were investigating Cahuzac for tax fraud. It was not clear that the ownership came from Cahuzac until Seychelles authorities questioned Mossack Fonseca and his for information about Cerman group which they had originally asked to create. Later on Fonseca told Seychelles authorities that their business relationship with Cerman Group was over because of their connection with politically exposed person.

Greece

- Stavros Papastavrou, advisor of former Prime Ministers Kostas Karamanlis and Antonis Samaras

- Papastavrou was member of the councils of the Panamanian foundations Green Shamrock and Diman Foundation between 2005 to 2014 He is also the deputy chairman of Aisios Foundation since 2006.

KURAHAUPO

Name variations: Kuraaupo, Kura-pau-popo, Kura-te-po, Kura-wau-po, Kurawhapo, Kuruatepo, Kuruhaupo

Two waka with the name Kurahaupo feature in Maori traditions. In the first of the traditions, Whatonga obtained the waka Te Hawaii from Turangi and, after renaming it Kurahaupo, voyaged to Aotearoa in search of his grandfather, Toi. According to a version of the voyage recorded by Best, the Kurahaupo was sailed first from Hawaiki to Rarotonga, where Whatonga heard that Toi had sailed on to Aotearoa. Following the ara-moana (sea path or route) of Toi's waka, Te Paepae-ki-Rarotonga, Whatonga eventually reached the shores of Aotearoa, making his first landfall at Muriwhenua. The waka was then sailed down the west coast and landed at Tonga-porutu, in northern Taranaki. Whatonga was able to learn from the local inhabitants that Toi was living in the Bay of Plenty. Despite a number of his crew opting to stay and live among their hosts (Maungaroa, Te Hatauirā, Korehewa, Moko, Pou, Te Auaha and others), Whatonga managed to voyage to the East Coast via North Cape.

During this section of the voyage, Whatonga and the remaining crew stopped off at a spot in Northland to collect food and water. Here one of the group, Otuako, died (and the locality was subsequently named after him). Further south, the Kurahaupo put in at Moharuru (Maketu), where the chief Matakana entertained Whatonga and his men. It was while the crew of the Kurahaupo were enjoying Matakana's hospitality that Whatonga finally learnt the whereabouts of his grandfather. The waka was sailed to Whakatane, where Whatonga was re-united with Toi at the pa Kaputerangi. After staying at Toi's pa for some time, Whatonga decided to find lands for himself, and relaunched the Kurahaupo. He sailed to Turanganui where Popoto, Mahutonga and (in some versions Tu-ranga) settled. After staying for a while, Whatonga travelled on to Mahia.

The following is a list, collected from several sources, of those said to have been on the Kurahaupo:

Toi Kainakayson		Tamateanairahera

Taramanga	Popoto	Te Hatauirā

1.8 Barney Dewes came into the Lottin Point area in 1949 from Waipiro. He has noted that when he first went to Lottin Point he did not know about tapu wairua: "As time went on and I found my first skull, I learnt a lot of things." Barney Dewes has experienced personal tragedy in relation to wahi tapu and shown they have affected family members. Eventually, to enable him to use his land, Barney Dewes brought in a tohunga to pinpoint all the sacred places.

1.9 Claimants have noted that others have not been so careful to observe tikanga and the right practice. It is reported that during the building of the Lottin Point Motel, the pakeha owners concreted over a burial site there and built the motel on top.

1.10 The recording of archaeological sites in such density in the Lottin Point and Matakaoa district has led to unexpected results for local Maori land owners. The recorded sites feature as part of the Gisborne District Council's Heritage Protection Plan. Claimants report that the Council has adopted archaeological site recording without consultation with local people. This has led to some odd results as is illustrated by Matekino Smith, the owner-occupier of Wharekahika A8 who, when seeking to have a house established on her land, was informed by the Council that she could not do so as there was a significant site on her land and Council practice was to not allow building within 50 metres of recorded sites. The recorded site was actually a kumara pit not regarded by local people as wahi tapu. Matekino was required to go to her kaumatua with a request that he inform the Council of this fact. Although the matter was resolved, and the house site was confirmed, for Matekino, this experience was wrong, where an outside agency such as the Council assumed the role of protecting cultural sites in a way that called tangata whenua landowners - the kaitiaki of these sites - into account.

Recorded Archaeological Sites between Wakatiri and Matakaoa

- 1.6 As the map above shows, an intensive coverage of archaeological sites has been recorded in the area between Lottin Point and Matakaoa.
- 1.7 Aside from such scientifically recorded sites, the area around Lottin Point is also significant in relation to wahi tapu. It is the site of waka landings and on coastal lands many wahi tapu are located. On Matakaoa Point, the seaward rockfaces are full of holes that have been used as burial places. Inland there is a fault line going up to the mud lake at Waikura. This is a very sacred site where the giant footprints of an important tipuna can be seen on the landscape. The footprints go out to Matakaoa and Lottin Point.<sup>1</sup>
